

FEATURED COURSE

THE TRUTH ABOUT RICHARD III

CENTRE FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Join one of our leading presenters, Yvette Debergue, in the area of Medieval History for an in-depth look at the life of the last Plantagenet King.

Courses are open to everyone.

CONTACT US

T 02 9036 4789
E cce.info@sydney.edu.au

THE TRUTH ABOUT RICHARD III

In 2012, in a Leicester car park, a startling discovery was made: the bones of the last Plantagenet King of England, Richard III. Depicted by Tudor historians and propagandists as a cruel and usurping tyrant, and rumoured to have had a hand in the death of his little nephews, it is now time to reassess both the story of Richard III and his legacy. In conjunction with the Richard III Society of NSW, we will discuss the background to the Wars of the Roses (1455–1487), where young Edward, Duke of York, emerged victorious to take the crown from his cousin Richard II, to the Battle of Bosworth (1487), where Richard III was defeated and the Tudors under Henry VII rose to power rapidly. Come and meet the real Richard, as told by those who loved and respected him and learn the ways in which, and the reasons why, his story and his legacy became so subverted in the 16th century.

Course content

- The King in the Car Park
- The Wars of the Roses
- King Richard III
- A Twist in the Tale

Class details

Sat 26 Oct 2013
10am - 4pm
1 session, 6 hours total
$145 incl GST

For more information visit

cce.sydney.edu.au/course/RIII